- 5 Charlie Bauman
Clemson's starting middle guard is the only performer who has played on Clemson's fine defenses between 1977 and 1980.
- 7 Hall of Famers
Today is Hall of Fame day and the Clemson athletic department would like to honor six men who have made a tremendous impact on the University's athletic program.
- 46 Tiger Basketball
1979-80 was Clemson's finest on the hard-court. Despite the loss of three starters, most Tiger fans and many national publications feel Bill Foster will have another nationally ranked team in '81.
- 49 Willie Underwood
This senior from Ft. Payne, AL is "the toughest player on the team," according to Head Coach Danny Ford.
- 63 Football Economics
A Clemson home game means more than just excitement to local businessmen. Tiger home games stimulate the local economy like no other weekends in the year.
- 65 University Feature
Clemson's Outdoor Laboratory on Lake Hartwell is a special camp for handicapped people, giving them an opportunity for fellowship and recreation in outdoor settings from which they are often excluded.
- 97 Past Coach Feature
Frank Howard takes a look at a past North Carolina game, a landmark game for Howard as he racked up his 100th victory in Tigertown.
- 103 The Bengal Babes
The Bengal Babes are a group of energetic young ladies that help the Clemson football program in many ways.

There have been many classic contests in Clemson's Memorial Stadium. The Tigers have set all kinds of conference records and won ACC titles on Frank Howard Field. Games from this nationally renowned site have also been televised by various networks.

However, one item that has never occurred on the floor of Memorial Stadium is the establishment of a major college NCAA record. But that streak should end today if the contest moves according to form, because Clemson placekicker Obed Ariri needs only one field goal to establish a new all-time NCAA record for field goals in a career. And when you think of all the teams, and all the placekickers there have been to play college football since the 1869 Princeton-Rutgers game that gave college football its beginning, it is an amazing accomplishment indeed.

Last Saturday, the Tigers' Owerri, Nigeria native kicked four field goals for the second straight week, giving him 56 for his career, tying him with Tony Franklin, who booted 56 during his four-year career (1975-78) at Texas A&M. Ariri is certainly atop some elite company.

Ariri's accomplishments this year are certainly worthy documenting because he is now the number-one rated field goal kicker in America. With an average of 2.37 field goals per game, Ariri has jumped to first with his eight field goals in the two-game period. Additionally, he has made 11 straight field goals heading into the North Carolina game and needs only five more in a row to tie the all-time NCAA record for consecutive field goals. His 19 field goals this season are only three shy of the all-time NCAA single-season mark, and he needs only four extra points to set the new ACC career record for extra points.

Obed Ariri needs only one field goal to establish the NCAA record for career field goals.

Ariri and the rest of the Tigers will have to be at their best this afternoon when North Carolina travels to Tigertown. The Tar Heels were 7-0 and ranked sixth nationally prior to last week's 41-7 loss at Oklahoma. But a swift, small quarterback named J. C. Watts, who runs the option as well as anyone in the nation, struck for 139 yards rushing and three touchdowns to lead the Sooners to the convincing win.

Clemson fans do not expect Homer Jordan to be as successful as Oklahoma's Watts, an experienced three-year starter, but the Tiger quarterback is improving from week-to-week and by the time he is a three-year veteran he might be as crafty as the Oklahoma mainstay. Jordan certainly is cut out of the same mold as Watts and he is probably a better passer already. That's why Clemson fans feel there is a reason for optimism about today's game, despite the Tar Heels' lofty ranking in the national polls and statistics.

Fuller	43	80	6	590	4	.538	110	398	4	190	988	123.5

Jordan had one of his finest all-around performances against Wake Forest last Saturday in Winston-Salem. The ACC's second-ranked total offense leader completed 12 of 22 passes for 148 yards and ran for 53 more, giving him 201 yards for the afternoon. It marked the third time this season that Jordan had gone over 200 yards in total offense in a single game. He also ran for a TD and threw for one.

The Athens, Ga. native is having a solid year for someone who had thrown only 11 varsity passes coming into this season. He compares favorably with past Clemson quarterbacks at this stage of his career. The most famous of all Clemson quarterbacks, Steve Fuller actually trails Jordan in many statistics when comparing the two quarterbacks' sophomore seasons.

Jordan has been slippery, just ask most of the Clemson opponents. But Jordan has not faced a team as solid as North Carolina, especially defensively. They certainly will drop in the national ratings in most of the categories in the NCAA statistics, but prior to the Oklahoma contest the Heels were first in the nation in scoring defense, third in the country in rushing defense and fourth in the nation in total defense.

Homer Jordan ranks second in the ACC in total offense.

There are four all-star candidates on the Tar Heel defense that have provided most of the impetus for these accomplishments. Linebackers Darrell Nicholson and Lawrence Taylor are two of the finest in the South. Nicholson is the Heels' leading tackler with 90, while Taylor has been the big play man for the North Carolina defense. The 6-3 outside linebacker who really plays like a defensive end, has made 16 tackles behind the line of scrimmage, including an incredible 12 quarterback sacks.

Donnell Thompson is the top front lineman. He has made 56 tackles to lead the men in the trenches in tackles and he has chipped in with eight tackles for loss, only half Taylor's total, but certainly a healthy number.

Steve Streater is the top defensive back and one of the top athletes on the Tar Heel team. He has made 37 tackles from his free safety spot and is regarded as one of the best defenders in hitters in the ACC. He is the prime reason North Carolina has yielded only one TD pass all season. He also doubles as the North Carolina punter and accepts that job with more than a passing interest. Last week, he was 13th in the nation in punting with a 43-yard average.

Offensively, North Carolina is almost as proficient. Featuring an offensive line that resembles a group of condominiums when they lineup side-by-side, the Tar Heels are one of the top rushing teams in the South.

Amos Lawrence is the most famous of the runningbacks as he needs only 232 yards over his last three games this year to become only the second man in the NCAA history to run for at least 1,000 yards in all four of his seasons in college (Tony Dorsett did it at Pittsburgh in 1973-77). Lawrence has had five 100-yard games this year and rushed for 106 yards against Oklahoma's fine defense. A fine receiver in the clutch, he leads the Tar Heels in touchdown receptions this year with four.

Backing up Lawrence is Kelvin Bryant. He has chipped in with 591 yards in 117 carries this season and has scored seven touchdowns on the team. The combination gives North Carolina 1359 yards out of their tailback slot this year.

Rod Elkins is the North Carolina quarterback, a position he inherited when Chuck Sharpe was injured in the pre-season. All Elkins has done is take the Tar Heels to seven wins and only one loss. The seven wins at the beginning of the season was North Carolina's best start since 1935, so Elkins has already etched his name along side some fine Tar Heel quarterbacks of the past. The sophomore from Greensboro has hit 62 of 127 passes for 796 yards. But, more importantly, he knows how to find the endzone as he has thrown 11 TD passes this year, including at least one against every team but Oklahoma.

Overall, running the football is the name of the game for North Carolina as the Tar Heels have gained more than twice as many yards on the ground as they have in the air. This will make for an interesting matchup today as Clemson has been stingy against the run and has not yielded more than 147 yards on the ground in a game all season.

With bowl bids, national rankings, and, for the most part, pride on the line, it should make the 29th meeting between Clemson and North Carolina a classic.

Perry Tuttle's 10 pass receptions in the Wake Forest game was one short of the Clemson record. Tuttle also caught a touchdown pass against the Deacons, now has a TD reception in each of his games against Wake Forest. In three games against Wake Forest, Tuttle has 16 receptions for 233 yards and three touchdowns.

The next pass reception by Perry Tuttle will put him in a fourth place tie with Glenn Smith on Clemson's all-time pass reception list and another effort like that this Saturday could vault Tuttle into third place. The third spot is held by John McMakin, who had 93 receptions. Tuttle's 124 yards receiving against Wake Forest gives him 1,421 for his career, leaving him 49 yards shy of taking over third place now held by Phil Rogers (1,469). Jerry Butler, now of the Buffalo Bills, is Clemson's all-time receiver, with 139 receptions and 2,223 yards receiving.

Clemson's football teams the past four years have been characterized by stingy, unyielding defensive play. The Tigers ranked seventh nationally in total defense in 1979, which was an eight-place improvement over 1978's finish. The Tiger stop-troops have also ranked first or second in almost every Atlantic Coast Conference defensive category for the past three seasons.

Three current professional players and a future pro gridder have been given credit for much of the Tigers' success during this period. Jonathan Brooks, Archie Reese, Jim Stuckey, and Steve Durham have been the defensive "names" for the Tigers, but there is only one player that has been on all four of these teams — Charlie Bauman.

"I respected those guys," said Bauman, "I learned a lot from their leadership and their playing ability. I was real close to Rich Tuten, Stuckey and the others because we spent so much time together. (Bauman was Tuten's backup in 1977 and 1978.) He really helped me to learn my position."

The 6-1, 226-pound Bauman does not feel he has been cast into the shadows, though. "Publicity doesn't bother me. I just like the opportunity to play for Clemson. Everybody on a football team is like the pieces of a puzzle and it is up to you to make the pieces fit. I just try to play to the best of my ability and I don't try to play anybody else's position."

Last season, as a full-time starter, he had 60 tackles, but a career high 13 of those, including two for minus yards, came in one game against all-everything center Jim Ritcher of North Carolina State. "I went into the game just like any other," Bauman noted, "I knew what kind of a player he was by watching the films. I guess I did think about the game a little more than usual, because he is such a good player. Everything just fell into place, though. I really didn't think I was doing that well. I was sort of surprised when I saw the films on the game." For his efforts against the Wolfpack, Bauman was named ACC Defensive Player-of-the-Week. But, Clemson is fortunate Bauman made these accomplishments because he almost didn't come to Tigertown.

"I hadn't planned to go to college at all," the Runnemede, N. J., native said, "and I had never heard of Clemson before Coach (Charlie) Pell and Coach (Dwight) Adams recruited me. I first came to Clemson for the North Carolina game in 1976. I was sitting in the stands and the Tigers were losing, but they started coming back in the second half and I could just feel the excitement growing in the stands. I knew right there that this was the place for me to be."

Bauman saw much action as a freshman, and he made 19 tackles as Rich Tuten's backup at middle guard. In 1978, he split time with Tuten and upped his tackle total to 32, including eight for minus yards.

Bauman says his goals for the 1980 season are "going to another bowl game. So many football players just want to go to one bowl game, and here we are possibly going to four.

"I had never won any kind of championship in high school, and winning the title in 1978 was the greatest feeling in the world. We had so many good players on the '78 team. I'm not trying to say we have bad ones now, but there were so many on one team. I looked up to guys like (Steve) Fuller and (Jerry) Butler, but now it's my turn to provide the inspiration. I try to provide inspiration the same way I learned how. Inspiration is great, but it is up to each individual player to take it upon themselves to grow. I respect everybody that ever played football because it really is a job."

As for the future, Bauman says, "I have a positive attitude toward pro football. I don't know if I'll be drafted or not. I know I could compete and probably like pro football, but I have a lot of other things I want to do in life. I am really working hard on my schoolwork and getting my degree. (Bauman is an administrative management major). I would like to work with athletics, though. If I become a coach, I would like to work at a college because this age group is great and the college atmosphere is enjoyable. I will always remember the people and memories at Clemson and I hope that maybe I can do the same for some other guy that everyone here has done for me."

See, you can write a story on Charlie Bauman and not mention Woody Hayes.

#58 Charlie Bauman prepares to stop a Wolfpack runner in 1979 N. C. State-Clemson game, Bauman's finest game as a Tiger.

Today, five outstanding Clemson athletes representing three sports, and one special initiate bring to 48 the number inducted into Clemson's athletic Hall of Fame. James C. "Susie" Owens, Bob Hudson, Stephen F. Wyndham, C. Douglas Hoffman, Harry Olszewski and R. R. "Red" Ritchie will be honored in special halftime ceremonies today.

Owens, originally from Laurens, was a two-sport standout for the Tigers from 1919-1921. As a tackle and end for the '19 and '20 football teams, Owens was an anchor on the Clemson line. In addition to his duties as a lineman, Owens also handled the kicking chores for the Tigers.

In a game against the Citadel in November 1920, Owens was called upon to kickoff with Clemson leading 12-0. The kickoff bounded into the endzone and while two Citadel players "stood guard over it like mummies," according to The Tiger, the student newspaper, Owens fell on the live football for a Clemson touchdown. But, not all of Owens' athletic exploits took place on the gridiron. An outfielder and one of Clemson's strongest pitchers, Owens starred on the Tiger baseball team as well. He served as captain of the Tiger nine in 1921. "Susie" Owens, who died in 1975, is represented today by his widow Mrs. James Owens.

Bob Hudson is one of three brothers from North Charleston to play football for Coach Frank Howard in the late 40's and 50's. Nicknamed "Cadillac," Hudson played tackle on the 1948 Tiger team that capped a perfect season by edging Missouri 24-23 in the 1949 Gator Bowl. But, Hudson was more than just a big lineman. Against Auburn in 1949, he took a lateral from teammate Ray Mathews and raced 45 yards for a touchdown.

Hudson played end on the 1950, 9-0-1 team that defeated Miami 15-14 in the 1951 Orange Bowl. His speed and strength were perhaps best showcased in track and field. A consistently strong performer, Hudson ran the 100 and 220 yard dashes, threw the discus, and put the shot for the Tiger track team for four years. He is now owner of Garland Pool Co. in Dallas, TX.

Stephen F. "Wyndie" Wyndham was a teammate of Bob Hudson's on the '48, '49 and '50 teams. Wyndham, from Moncks Corner, S. C. was a reliable and durable linebacker who routinely turned in outstanding performances. The 1951 TAPS reported that Wyndham, against Boston College, "on three occasions . . . made all the tackles in a . . . series of plays." Superb play like that led to Wyndham's selection to the All-South Team in 1950. His teammates voted him best defensive player and he served as co-captain of the 1951 Orange Bowl Champions. Wyndham, who now lives in Columbia, is a polygraph examiner with the State Law Enforcement Division.

Douglas Hoffman specialized in breaking in head coaches during his Clemson athletic career. A forward for the 1956-57, '57-'58 and '58-'59 Tiger basketball teams, he helped acquaint new Head Coach Press Maravich with ACC basketball. But, Hoffman really shined on the baseball diamond where he starred on Coach Bill Wilhelm's first two Tiger teams, squads that finished fifth in the College World Series in 1958 and '59. A Gastonia, NC product, he was named All-ACC in 1959, and led the Tigers to the NCAA District playoffs where he was named the District's Most Valuable Player. He was selected to the All-College World Series Team as an outfielder and capped the season by being named to the All-American team. Hoffman, who later signed with the American League's Washington Senators, now lives in Cary, NC and is a sales representative for Jordan Business Forms.

Harry Olszewski played an outstanding guard on an awesome offensive line for the Howard-coached '65, '66, '67 teams. Along side standouts like Wayne Mass, and Wayne Mulligan, the Tiger line led the way to three straight Atlantic Coast Conference Championships. An All-ACC performer as a junior and senior, Olszewski was awarded the 1967 South Carolina and ACC Jacobs Blocking Trophy. Following his senior season, Olszewski played in the Senior Bowl, the East-West Game and the Coaches All-America Game. As a senior, Olszewski was a consensus All-American. Olszewski, who now resides in Fort Lauderdale, FL, was named to the Atlantic Coast Conference Silver Anniversary Team in 1977.

R. R. "Red" Ritchie is a special initiate into the Hall of Fame. A native of Iowa, Ritchie came to Clemson as an animal science professor in 1926. A devoted Tiger follower, Ritchie was first appointed to Clemson's athletic council in the mid '40s. He became chairman of the athletic council in 1955, and served as President of the Faculty Chairmen of the Atlantic Coast Conference in 1958-59, 1964-65 and 1970-71. Ritchie, a member of IPTAY since 1935, is an honorary alumnus of Clemson's Class of 1926. In 1977 the R. R. "Red" Ritchie Scholarships were established by an anonymous donor to be awarded to outstanding juniors and seniors on the basis of academic achievement. Ritchie, who retired in 1971 after 45 years on the faculty, still lives in Clemson.

Danny Ford is beginning only his second full season at Clemson University as Head Football Coach, but he has achieved more than most coaches realize in a lifetime. The 32-year-old mentor has already guided clubs in two bowl games, won over 70 percent of his games, and claimed victories over renowned national powers Georgia, Ohio State and Notre Dame.

That is quite a list for someone who is still the NCAA's youngest coach (division I). But an examination of his accomplishments with some of the nation's outstanding programs tells college football fans that Clemson is led by one of America's brightest coaches.

Bear Bryant and Frank Howard are two of the legends that have helped mold the techniques and theories of Clemson's present coach. Ford played four years of football at Alabama and coached four more seasons under Bryant. The 1970 graduate of Alabama played for three consecutive bowl teams in Tuscaloosa; the 1968 Cotton Bowl, the 1968 Gator Bowl and the 1969 Liberty Bowl. He was an All-Southeastern Conference choice, All-SEC academic selection and team captain of the Crimson Tide his senior year.

After receiving his B.S. degree in industrial arts, Ford remained at Alabama as a graduate assistant for the 1970 and 1971 seasons. After earning a master's degree in special education in 1971, Ford was made a full-time assistant for the 1972 and 1973 seasons. The Tide went to four more post-season games while Ford was on Bryant's staff.

Clemson's new mentor then accepted a position of assistant coach on Jimmy Sharpe's staff at Virginia Tech. He remained in Blacksburg for three seasons (1974-75-76), before he was beckoned to Clemson by Charley Pell, who had just been named the Tigers' head coach. Pell and Ford had served together on the VPI staff for two seasons.

When Pell resigned as head football coach at Clemson for a similar position at Florida, the Student Affairs Committee of the Clemson Board of Trustees only considered one name as Pell's successor — Danny Ford. Ford not only had the backing of Pell, but also from members of the Clemson football team. He was then an assistant head coach and offensive line coach of the Tigers.

After two meetings between Ford and the committee on the morning of December 5, 1978, it was the unanimous opinion of the committee that Ford should be named Clemson's 21st head coach.

At a press conference on December 10, 1978, Pell relinquished the head coaching duties of the Gator Bowl to Ford. Nearly 40 years after hiring 31-year-old Frank Howard, Clemson had hired another gifted 31-year-old to lead the Tiger forces on the gridiron.

Ford conquered all kinds of adversity in leading the Tigers to a nationally televised 17-15 triumph over perennial national power Ohio State in the Gator Bowl in his very first game as head coach. Few coaches in NCAA history have made such a celebrated and successful beginning.

Last year, he took the Tigers to eight triumphs, a second-place finish in the ACC and non-conference wins over Georgia and Notre Dame. Clemson has scored 801 points and set countless records in the last three years and Ford is given much of the credit.

Danny Ford is faced with another young, inexperienced team as the new decade begins, but based on his track record, the Gadsden, Alabama native should lead the Tigers to more previously unattainable heights.

Clemson's Danny Ford is one of America's most successful young coaches.

It began as one man's dream during the midst of post-Civil War Reconstruction.

Thomas Green Clemson, son-in-law of South Carolina statesman John C. Calhoun, felt that the only way the state could be revived economically, politically and socially, was to provide for the education of its youth.

Following the death of his wife Anna Maria and all their children, Clemson set aside the bulk of his plantation estate to establish a scientific institution. The South Carolina General Assembly accepted his bequest, and in 1893, Clemson College opened its doors to 446 students.

Last year Clemson University was home to 11,748 students in nine academic colleges. They chose from 76 undergraduate curricula and 54 graduate degree programs.

The stately Fort Hill mansion which dominated the Calhoun plantation a hundred years ago is now surrounded by 70 main campus buildings, three-fourths of them built since 1950. The 600-acre campus represents an investment of approximately $168 million.

The campus property is surrounded by more than 20,000 acres of University farms and woodlands devoted to agricultural and forestry research. Another 10,000 acres throughout the state are devoted to Agricultural Experiment Station research and 4-H Club work.

Clemson students continue to demonstrate the kind of academic excellence Thomas Clemson would have expected. Incoming freshmen now boast average SAT scores hovering around 1,000, and more than two-thirds of them graduated in the top 20 percent of their high school classes.

The University also leads the way for continuing education in the state, with more than 20,000 South Carolinians sharpening their pencils for a Clemson workshop or seminar every year.

What began as one man's dream for the future, South Carolina has seen grow into a reality: an institution on the frontier of education, keeping a link with the traditions which have made it great.

Clemson athletics has made a meteoric rise to national prominence over the last four years and Athletic Director Bill McLellan and his tireless staff of coaches and administrators are the major reasons. Last year, the Tiger sports program recorded all kinds of firsts and records, highlighted by a number-three national ranking in the Knoxville Journal's All-Sports Poll.

McLellan is the man most responsible. He has put in countless hours to improve every phase of the athletic program in Tigertown. Under his direction Clemson has built one of the finest all-around athletic facilities in the nation. During his tenure the Tigers have christened the Frank Johnstone Jervy Athletic Center, possibly the most modern and complete complex under one roof, increased the permanent seating capacity of Clemson Memorial Stadium from 43,451 to 53,306, opened a beautiful swimming facility, which will be the site of the ACC meet this year, constructed a nine-lane all-weather track, and built a new soccer facility.

While he has erected an athletic powerhouse on the varsity level, McLellan has also developed a solid intramural program for the student body which attracts thousands of participants every year. That's why Bill McLellan is recognized as a total athletic director.

Only the third man to own the title in the last 49 years, McLellan assumed his present position February 4, 1971 and since that date has directed Clemson to its greatest decade of athletic prominence. The last five years Clemson has ranked in the top 25 in the nation in the all-sports poll and has had more All-Americans than in any other five-year period in Clemson history.

An examination of McLellan's experience in athletics explains why Clemson has been so successful under his direction. A native of Hamer, SC, the 48-year-old McLellan was a two-time football letterman for the Tigers and a member of Clemson's 1952 Gator Bowl team. He received his B.S. degree from Clemson in 1954 and his M.S. two years later.

After joining the athletic staff in 1958 he spent more than a decade with the Tigers as an assistant football coach, Assistant Business Manager, Assistant Athletic Director, and Associate Athletic Director, before his appointment to his current position.

But McLellan will be the first man to say that many knowledgeable people are needed to run an efficient and successful athletic department. Assistant Athletic Director Bobby Robinson is the catalyst of McLellan's group of responsible aides.

Assistant to the Athletic Director Earle Ambrose; Joe Turner, Executive Director of Clemson's very successful IPTAY Club; and Sports Promotion Director Alison Dalton are major reasons Clemson's athletic administration is among the best in the country.

Sandoz to Expand Dye Manufacturing Facility

EAST HANOVER, N. J.

Plans for the expansion of the Sandoz dye and chemical manufacturing facility in Martin, South Carolina, were announced by Sandoz Colors & Chemicals, East Hanover, New Jersey.

The new construction planned for the Martin Works, designated as Phase II, will provide greater production capacity particularly in the areas of acid (Nylosan[®] and Derma[®]), direct (Cartasol[®]/liquids and granules), and fiber reactive (Drimarene[®]) dyes. This expansion adds considerable manufacturing capability since the new investment is nearly all production oriented. This is a further indication of Sandoz' commitment to the dye consuming industries: a commitment put in concrete and process equipment. Construction is scheduled to begin in early 1980 with the new facilities coming on-stream, in steps, during 1981.

The construction of the Sandoz Martin Works began in late spring of 1979. In this first phase, the plant was designed to produce a specific range of dyes and chemicals. The initial multi-million dollar investment included a 4,600 acre tract with a production facility containing modern dye and chemical manufacturing equipment, an advanced technical support center, expansive warehouse space, administrative offices, and the necessary peripheral installations for utilities, energy, maintenance, and environmental protection.

ALUMNI

The tiger, a long-time symbol of strength and aggressiveness for Clemson University, now assumes another prestigious role. The Order of the Silver Tiger is a new giving level recognizing alumni, parents, friends, faculty and staff who have given a minimum of $500 annually to the Clemson University Annual Fund.

Gifts to Clemson University enable deserving students to receive scholarships, add volumes to the Robert Muldrow Cooper Library, bring professors of distinction from other colleges and universities to campus for varying periods to share their expertise, and finance alumni professorships awarded to outstanding faculty members. These are just a few of the ways your gifts will be used to help secure Clemson University's future.

Your gift not only benefits the University, but also entitles you to become a charter member of the Order of the Silver Tiger, a new recognition program for your giving level.

As a Silver Tiger you will be recognized in the Clemson Honor Roll; honored at a special reception during the year and receive this distinctive Silver Tiger desk piece sculptured by Detter Hefner.

Through the Order of the Silver Tiger we can say "Thanks" for all you do for Clemson University.

With the return of six experienced lettermen and the addition of an outstanding recruiting class, most ACC basketball experts expect the foundation of Clemson's quickly progressing basketball tradition to continue.

Last year the Tigers achieved all kinds of firsts in gaining their initial NCAA bid and a record 23 victories. Bill Foster's fifth Clemson team advanced to the finals of the NCAA's West Regional before UCLA's young Bruins stopped the Tigers' drive toward the final four. The Tigers were ranked in the top 20 for two months during the season, rising as high as number-10 at mid-season.

Bill Foster is Clemson's winningest basketball coach.

First-team All-ACC guard Billy Williams, rugged center John Campbell and point-guard Bobby Conrad, the catalyst of the Tiger attack, have departed and will be missed. With their graduation, many might claim the Tigers will be hard pressed to come close to last year's achievements.

"We were very pleased with the 1979-80 season, and will have to get some great efforts from our holdovers and new people if we are to continue our success," said Coach Bill Foster. "But I have confidence in our returning players because they have been through as many pressure games as anyone.

"Much has been said about our incoming freshmen. It is difficult to say what a rookie will do because there are many intangibles involved. Three years ago when we brought in Billy Williams, John Campbell, and Larry Nance few thought we had much of a recruiting year, but they have made quite an impact on the program.

"The players we have brought in this year are very highly regarded, one of the most renowned classes we have ever had. One of their biggest assets, as a group, is versatility. All can play more than one position.

"That will be an important aspect of our team this year. We will be fewer in number but will have more people who can be used as swing players. We will use a lot of different looks and combinations this year."

FRONTCOURT

Two of these versatile players are returning frontcourt starters, Larry Nance and Horace Wyatt. The 6-10 pair started all season and gave opponents fits with their agility around the basket.

Nance is one of only two seniors on this Tiger squad. The Anderson, SC native is the leading returning scorer with a 13.9 scoring average. He hit 51.5 percent from the field and grabbed a team-high 8.1 rebounds per outing, the top figure among forwards in the ACC. He was only the third Clemson player this decade to collect over 250 rebounds in a season when he snared 259 last year. A forward most of last season, Nance will move to center this year, a position he scored exceptionally well at last year. The All-West Regional choice hit 22 points a game at the center slot over a five-game span at mid-season.

Wyatt scored 8.0 points a game and is an effective defensive player. He was the major reason Jeff Lamp, Mike O'Koren, and Ernest Graham all shot under 38 percent against Clemson last year. The Hartsville, SC native had offensive problems at the end of the year because of an injury to his shooting hand. Prior to the injury he had had a 22-point effort against Maryland on Feb. 9, and had been shooting over 51 percent. Wyatt played small forward, despite his 6-10 size last year, but with Nance's move to center, he could see more time at the four spot.

Fred Gilliam, Keith Walker and Bill Ross are three more frontcourt players with experience who could be in the starting role picture. Ross has been a backup player to John Campbell the last two seasons. He saw limited action in 1979-80, but showed signs of real improvement late, especially in the NCAA tournament. Walker is a sharpshooting forward who gives experience and firepower to the frontcourt.

Gilliam was Clemson's most improved player over the 1979-80 season. The 6-8 sophomore forward shot 55 percent over the last 17 games of the year and finished the campaign with a 6.6 PPG figure. He hit 10.3 PPG in the NCAA tournament when he shot 56.3 percent from the field. The Tigers' best pure shooter led the team in free throw percentage with a .844 figure, the best free throw accuracy mark at Clemson in 13 years.

Raymond Jones is the only pure frontcourt player among the newcomers. The 6-9 forward from Union, SC was a third-team All-American according to Parade Magazine and Street & Smith. He scored 22 points and grabbed 14 rebounds per outing over his career. His style of play is one of agility, so his presence should give Clemson one of the quickest frontlines in the South when Nance and Wyatt join Jones in the Tiger frontcourt. Murray Jarman, a transfer from Fordham, is a high jumping frontcourt player who will see some action this year.

BACKCOURT

On the surface, it would appear the Tigers have a major rebuilding program ahead of them in the backcourt this year. Billy Williams and Bobby Conrad played together three years and might have been the best guard tandem in the ACC a year ago.

Chris Dodds is the heir apparent to Conrad's point-guard slot. The State College, PA native played in every contest last year and scored about six points per outing. A player with much experience, Dodds was Southern Conference Player of the Year in 1977-78 at Davidson. But he transferred to Tigertown and is now one of the team's most reliable players.

Mitchell Wiggins will be the other returning letter winner in the backcourt. The 6-4 JUCO transfer will attempt to make a transition of sorts because he played predominantly at small forward last year. Coach Foster feels he will aid the team this year at wing guard and small forward, but his major role could be in the backcourt. A year ago the MVP of the IPTAY tournament scored 5.5 points an outing in 32 games.

Three newcomers will play a key role in the success of the backcourt game. Clarke Bynum, a 6-7 Sumter, SC native is the most highly regarded of the group. The former Wilson Hall star was a McDonald's All-America, a second-team choice by Parade Magazine and fourth-team selection by Street & Smith. He scored 21 points per game and collected 10 rebounds an outing his senior year in leading his squad to the state title. Bynum played all over the court in high school and is a deft passer who should see much action on the wing this year.

Marc Campbell is known as a "Bobby Conrad type with a better outside shot," according to most observers. The Elizabethton, TN native scored 23.3 points a game and dealt out seven assists per outing at Tennessee High School last year. He was a two-time all-state selection and the Player-of-the-Year in East Tennessee. Vincent Hamilton was the fourth player signed by Bill Foster this winter. The 6-4 wing guard led Rutherfordton Spindale Central High School of Rutherfordton, NC to the state 3A championship with a 32-0 record in 1979-80. He was the MVP of the state tourney and averaged nearly 30 points a game in the state playoffs. Marvin Key, Mike Eppley, who also plays football at Clemson, and Jeff White are reserves who should help the Tiger backcourt situation.

"Overall, we have a very young team," concludes Foster. "We will do some growing early in the season, but we have a nice blend of experienced players and newcomers to make it a very successful year, one that should end with our third straight post-season tournament bid."

In simple terms, why every Honda has front-wheel drive.

Have you noticed how more and more car manufacturers are switching to front-wheel drive these days?

We're not surprised. We knew the advantages of front-wheel drive a long, long time ago.

In fact, only Honda has sold all its cars in the U.S. with front-wheel drive and a transverse-mounted engine. (Not to mention having sold more than anyone else too.)

So just what are the advantages?

For a start, we've designed a car that's smaller on the outside but with more than enough room inside for both driver and passengers.

This is partly due to the fact that there's no driveshaft running through the passenger compartment. So your passengers have more foot and legroom.

Eliminating the driveshaft also reduces another problem. Because the driveshaft can be a source of noise and vibration. But the advantages of front-wheel drive don't stop at improved space utilization and comfort.

Front-wheel drive puts more of the weight on the front driving wheels. That means better traction.

And since driving power is applied in the direction the car is being steered, it helps you through the turns. We could go on.

But the only way to really appreciate our front-wheel drive is to test-drive a Honda yourself.

The Civic. The car that was named Motor Trend magazine's Import Car of the Year.

The Accord. Our luxury car.

And the Prelude. Our idea of a sports car.

They all have front-wheel drive.

So if that's what you're looking for in a car, it's worth remembering that Honda is out in front all the way.

Every football team needs a big play man on defense. A player who can come up with the key fumble, blocked punt, or tackle behind the line of scrimmage. This season, Clemson's big play man has been a player that Danny Ford refers to as "the toughest player on the Clemson team," Willie Underwood.

So far this year, Underwood, who is also one of the hardest hitters on the Clemson squad despite his small size, has come up with numerous key plays and emerged as one of the leaders on the Clemson team. The senior from Ft. Payne, AL, enjoys this responsibility and uses the role not only to pick up his teammates but also to help himself play at a higher level.

"I like to lead by example," said the 5-11, 193-pounder who had made 35 tackles through the N. C. State game including 23 initial hits. "I rarely say anything out there. I'm just not that type of person. I try to make a hard hit or break up a pass, and I feel that if I'm out there doing my best and working hard, then the other players will do the same."

Leading through example is something Willie Underwood has been doing a lot this season. He has played inspired football and come through for the Tigers in key situations in his final year at Clemson.

Against Virginia Tech, on a fourth-and-two situation, Underwood shot into the VPI backfield on a blitz and clobbered VPI's tailback, Cyrus Lawrence, for a two-yard loss. Underwood hit Lawrence so hard that the VPI tailback was unable to play the rest of the day.

"The defensive scheme we were running on that play," recalls Underwood as he described the crucial down, "was a regular defensive play we use when we know the other team is going to run. I kind of sneak up to the line of scrimmage, and at the snap of the ball, I take on the fullback. On that particular play, I faked out the fullback, and he missed his block. Having once been an offensive back at Clemson, I knew what the fullback's assignment was, and I reacted accordingly. After I got past him, I was alone in the backfield and got the runner."

Against N. C. State, the Wolfpack appeared to be putting together their only sustained drive of the game when Underwood made a jarring tackle on Andre Marks. Marks coughed up the football, and Jeff Davis recovered for the Tigers.

However, the play that Willie Underwood and Clemson fans will remember most was his blocked punt against Virginia which resulted in a touchdown that knotted the score at 24-24 when Bill Smith picked up the loose ball and rambled into the end-zone for the touchdown. Moments later, Obed Ariri kicked a 52-yard field goal to win the game.

"That blocked punt against Virginia was the biggest single play of my career because it gave us a chance to come back and win the game," stated Underwood. "It was a planned play, a desperation punt-block attempt. In the play, I again kind of sneak up to the line of scrimmage and hide behind Charlie Bauman until the ball is snapped. Then Charlie takes on his man, and I go to the right or the left, whichever is the bigger hole. At Virginia, we got good penetration from the other players, so when the last blocker went to take on someone else from the outside, I had a free lane. I got all of the ball, and I nearly tackled the punter. It was a great feeling to make contact, and it certainly changed things around in the game."

Willie Underwood has made many big plays for the Clemson defense in his four years at Clemson which has seen him play in every game since arriving on the Clemson campus in 1977. However, he is quick to point out the contribution that Clemson and the University's football program have meant to him.

"I feel very fortunate to have had the opportunity to come to Clemson and play college football here," reflects Underwood. "If it weren't for athletics, I might have been digging ditches somewhere the past couple of years. I don't come from a real wealthy area, and I realize the value of the opportunity I have. I thank God for the great opportunity I've had to get an education and play football at Clemson."

Underwood has taken advantage of the opportunity Clemson has offered in both areas and looks to the future to use his talents in both of them.

"I enjoy athletics, and I would like to give pro football a chance," says Underwood. "I'd probably go to Canada if I couldn't make it in the states. However, I feel confident that I will be able to get a good job after my playing days are over. Getting a good education and getting a good job has always been important to me because you can't play football forever."

The journey for Underwood has never been an easy one. But, through determination and motivation, he has been quite successful at Clemson. Underwood cites his parents as being a source of inspiration and support for him.

"The reason I know the value of this opportunity here is because of my parents," says Underwood. "They have been the real root of my motivation in anything because they have had to work so hard for everything they've ever gotten. They never had any shortcuts or the type of opportunities I've had."

Willie Underwood has indeed been an outstanding player for Clemson over the last four years. In his senior season, he has made more big plays than most players make in a career. But, as he leaves Clemson, it is certain that after he graduates, if he puts the same type of effort, intensity, and desire into whatever the future holds for him, Willie Underwood will succeed.

Perone's has got it for Tiger fans!

Faced with the same old problem of where (and what) to eat before the game? Give us a call ahead of time and we'll have a delicious box lunch ready for you.

After the game, try "The Lighter Side" where you dine in casual comfort and can order a sandwich, crepés, a spinach salad, quiche, prime ribs . . . or a complete dinner!

And if you really want to celebrate a Clemson victory right, "The Forum" is the place to spend your Saturday evening! They feature dining, dancing, and top-name entertainment.

Perone's . . . before or after the game . . . has it for you!

The perfect
Christmas gift for the Clemson fan.

DOOM

This stunning 18'' × 24'' print by Polly Furr of Charlotte, N. C. is a magnificent tribute to the Clemson spirit of pride and strength.

A renowned Southern artist, Ms. Furr has focused her many talents on creating what has become a collectors item.

How the new Chevy Citation

and mid-size at the very same time.

No mirrors, no wires, nothing up our sleeve. Citation really is both compact and mid-size. Watch closely.

Compact on the outside.

Outside, Citation measures only 15 feet bumper to bumper. That's trim enough to fit into 3/4 of a parking space.

Mid-size on the inside.

No hocus-pocus. What we did was to mount Citation's engine sideways, giving you enough room inside to seat five adults comfortably. With space left over in the hatchback that could even surprise Houdini. There's also a removable shelf panel that makes every bit of cargo just seem to disappear.

You've got to drive it to believe it.

Of course, there's a lot more about Citation than meets the eye.

- There's its front-wheel-drive traction on wet roads, through snow and in mud.
- The way its ride can make a stretch of road seem a whole lot smoother.
- Its impressive acceleration.
- And yet still, in the hatchback, wagon-like convenience.

Why not see your Chevy dealer about buying or leasing the new Chevy Citation. You might be amazed. It could be just the car you have in mind.

Chevrolet

It's a whole new kind of compact car.

Although the inclusion of the flag corps as a drill unit is not of British origin, today's bands are utilizing them more and more to visually emphasize the music and drill used by contemporary marching bands. Today, the Tiger Band salutes the flag corps. Members pictured are: Sharon Whitfield, Timmi Haulbrook, Denean Barker, Fran Henry, Nancy Folsom, Beth Elnot, Joy Gahagan, Cathy Hope, Theresa Davis, Lanie Jordan, Kim Bumgardner, Cindy Crocker, Laura McCall, Amy Spitzmiller, Ellen Slessinger, Lisa Johnson, Gigi Gathings, Della Freeman, Leigh Ann Perrin, Becky Thomas, Barbara Black, Mary Ellen Hertig, Michele Nido, Florence Hadstate.

by Kim Kelly

Today, the Clemson University Marching Band will play host to the visiting University of North Carolina Tar Heel Band. Under the direction of John Yesulatis the Tar Heel Band will perform a tribute to "West Side Story" as part of the half-time entertainment.

The pre-game show begins as the Tiger Marching Band enters the field while playing everyone's favorites, "Sock it to 'em" and "Tiger Rag." As the band moves into the T-I-G-E-R formation a familiar figure will come from the sidelines to dot the "i", Coach Danny Ford. Accompanying Coach Ford will be his wife, Debra. Following the playing of "Tiger Rag" the colors will be presented as "America the Beautiful" sounds in the background.

The theme for today's halftime presentation centers around British Military music. In days gone by when Clemson was a military school, the band also decided to adopt a military look. Clad in uniforms which were fashioned after British Guard uniforms the band quickly adopted a habit of collecting and playing British Military tunes.

Reminiscent of those military days, Band Director Bruce Cook will lead the Tiger Band in a medley of military marches including selections by John Philip Sousa, Kenneth J. Alford and William Walton.

Next the percussion section will perform a British drill song entitled, "The Lost Lady Found." The entire band then will gather to drill, military-style, as they pass in review while playing Alford's "Army of the Nile."

To close out the halftime performance the band will play "Londonderry Air" while exiting the field.

Clemson University has undoubtedly meant a lot to the small community that surrounds it. The student body is active in the town and does much to support it. Quite frankly, if it weren't for the University and the students it attracts, few would know about the small community in upper South Carolina.

Yet, through the many academic and athletic accomplishments, Clemson University has brought plenty of attention to the town. Countless conventions and meetings are held in the Clemson area which contribute to the renowned academic reputation of the University.

However, on six Saturdays in the fall, a different type of convention is held in Tigertown, and it centers around Death Valley. For many businesses in the Clemson area, those six days mean more to them than any of the other 359 days of the year. Tiger fans not only bring their enthusiasm for Clemson football, but they also inject thousands of dollars into the town that allows it to continue to prosper and progress along with the University and the people it serves.

Tiger fans come from all over the South to enjoy a Clemson home game, and in doing so, they give a real shot in the arm to the local economy.

Considering the small population of the area surrounding Clemson, it is fairly safe to assume that most of the fans that attend a Clemson game have to travel a good distance to get to the game. It always seems that the greater the distance a person travels, the more money he brings and is willing to spend. A good indication of this is the lack of vacancies hotels experience on football weekends. All the hotels we surveyed in the area are booked solid for football weekends.

Jim Ensley of the Clemson Holiday Inn points out that his hotel is booked for those Saturdays over a year in advance. That Holiday Inn pulls in approximately $15,000 over a football weekend.

Even hotels in Greenville and Anderson benefit from football on the Clemson campus. Peter Thompson of the Anderson Holiday Inn says that his hotel is jammed on football weekends and booked six months in advance.

"Those football games generate a substantial amount of business for us," says Thompson. "We make about $8,000 per game and $48,000 a season. We wouldn't mind having six more games a year because it is so good for business."

Clothing stores, Clemson novelty shops, fast-food chains, and restaurants also benefit from the approximately 50,000 non-student visitors who flood the area on a Saturday.

Most of the businesses that are found in downtown Clemson depend heavily on football crowds to supply a good portion of their yearly sales. Every owner of a store in Clemson looks forward to football weekends because even though it means a tremendous amount of work, it also means many sales.

"Football Saturdays are very big for us," says I. M. Ibrahim, owner of The Tiger Sports Shop which sells mostly sports wear. "We have between 1,000 and 4,000 customers every game day, and some 300 to 500 people make a purchase. Sometimes the place is so packed people can't get in, or maybe our sales would be even higher."

"We sell 5% of our yearly business on those six days which shows what an impact it has. However, that figure in the long run is too low because it's hard to estimate how many people come in on game mornings, see something they like, and come back some other time to purchase it."

Randy Riggins, the manager of Mr. Knickerbocker's in downtown Clemson, is equally enthusiastic about football games in Clemson.

"Football game day sales account for about 20% of our yearly sales. We sell mostly Clemson novelties and souvenirs and that is mostly what people are looking for. Without those six dates, it would be really hard to stay in business."

On game days, people have to take numbers just to get into Mr. Knickerbocker's. However, due to their success, the management has opened a new store in Greenville with hopes of tapping a new market for Clemson souvenirs.

Kentucky Fried Chicken, a fast-food chain, is one of the major benefactors of tailgating parties. Tailgating is a practice that a large majority of Clemson fans enjoy on game days, and KFC offers convenience that many of them take advantage of.

"There are people at the door before we even open on the mornings before games," reports Nancy Arnold of the Clemson chain. "It takes everybody we have to work those days. We make almost $3,000 a game day and even our biggest selling days the rest of the year don't come close to that figure."

Calhoun Corners, one of the most popular restaurants in Clemson, is always running out of space to seat people on football weekends.

"Those six days have a major impact on our business," says Flip Pollard, the owner. "We have an increase of 25-30% in sales. Many times groups of 30-40 people will make reservations on those days. People come over without a reservation, and even though we try to work everybody in, we lose some customers, and I hate that."

One needs only to stroll down College Avenue on a football Saturday morning to see the economic benefits Tiger fans provide and why local business owners look forward to football season. These businessmen recognize the importance of the buying power of the Clemson fans. Without it, much of the expansion and improvements of their businesses would not have been possible. The Clemson area has prospered through football from the biggest stores and hotels down to the youngsters out hawking Clemson football game programs on Saturday mornings.

Through the University and its football program, the town's businesses have grown. The town and Clemson University have grown up together and like good neighbors, they continue to support each other.

Outdoor Lab: A Special Camp for Special People

by Wally Bowen

Five miles south of Clemson on a heavily forested peninsula jutting into Lake Hartwell is Clemson University's Outdoor Laboratory. You'll find no microscopes or guinea pigs in this laboratory; it's inhabitants are all people, but people of a very special sort.

They're special because they're handicapped, and Clemson's Outdoor Lab is very special because it gives the handicapped the opportunity for fellowship and recreation in outdoor settings from which they are usually excluded.

Administered by Clemson's department of recreation and park administration in the College of Forest and Recreation Resources, the Outdoor Lab first opened in 1975 with two subcamps of eight cabins each. Today the Lab is a one and-a-half million-dollar facility (excluding land, which is part of the Clemson Forest) consisting of 24 cabins, a multipurpose dining hall, and a combination chapel-amphitheater.

The 200-acre peninsula provides the Lab with more than two miles of Lake Hartwell shoreline and plenty of space for nature trails and campsites. In addition, the Lab maintains lakeside campsites up to four miles away, all of which are accessible by canoe or pontoon boat.

Though the Outdoor Lab is a spartan environment designed for maximum exposure to outdoor life, its beauty lies in the fact that most of it was designed and constructed with the physically handicapped in mind. Most architectural barriers have been eliminated, and many trails are paved for wheelchair access. Plans are currently being laid for the construction of a swimming facility for the wheelchair handicapped who aren't able to swim in lakeside areas.

Though the Outdoor

Lab's physical accommodations are somewhat unusual, it's the range of people it serves and the organizations which support its programs that make the Lab so unique. During the 1979-80 camping season the Lab hosted diabetics, the visually impaired, senior citizens and the emotionally disturbed. One of these camps, Camp Running Brave for hemophiliacs held each July, was featured on NBC's Today Show, the CBS Morning News and the Cable News Network.

Without the financial support of organizations such as the South Carolina Jaycees, the S. C. Department of Mental Health and the S. C. Sertoma Clubs, these handicapped citizens could not afford the educational and recreational camping experience the Outdoor Lab offers.

In addition to serving the handicapped of South Carolina and the Southeast, the Outdoor Lab is a popular retreat during the fall and winter months for groups ranging from outdoor education classes at area elementary schools to the U. S. Forest Service. During 1979-80 the Lab was host to more than 5,000 people.

Clemson's number-three national ranking among major college athletic programs wouldn't be possible without the efforts of many talented and dedicated athletes. And, many of those athletes would not be at Clemson were it not for the efforts of dedicated volunteers — volunteers of IPTAY, the nation's number-one collegiate scholarship organization.

IPTAY (I Pay Thirty A Year) provided $1,035,000 in athletic scholarships to 405 athletes in 19 varsity sports last year.

Dr. Rupert H. Fike developed the I Pay Ten A Year plan in 1934 to raise funds for athletic scholarships. Although IPTAY members now pay from $30 to $2000 annually, their donations are still used to fund these scholarships. IPTAY's first membership list included only 185 names, but under twenty years of Fike's leadership, and with the support of IPTAY volunteers, the organization enjoyed steady growth. In 1947 IPTAY added a full-time executive secretary to handle the administrative responsibilities created by the organization's continued growth.

"The campus-based staff helps implement and support the policy decisions made by IPTAY's President and Board of Directors," says Executive Secretary Joe Turner. "We're fortunate to have a group of business leaders on the Board of Directors who give their time and pool their experience to make IPTAY a successful organization. These are the people who, over the years, have provided the leadership and experience which has made IPTAY number one."

Turner credits knowledgeable leadership for sixteen consecutive years of increased IPTAY contributions. "Reeves Gressette is a prime example. Under his direction, IPTAY membership jumped from 11,400 to 15,000. With this increase in membership, came record contributions of 2.7 million dollars in fiscal year '80.

"Just as the full-time staff would be ineffective without the President and Board of Directors," says Turner, "the President and Board of Directors would not be as effective without the support of over 500 IPTAY Representatives in South Carolina, North Carolina and Georgia. These volunteers make the one-to-one contacts that are essential to the success of any fund-raising program."

"But," Turner explains, "these volunteers do much more than raise money. Each year they coordinate the arrangements for more than sixty Clemson Club meetings across the three-state area. These meetings are a chance for Clemson people to get together and learn more about both the academic and athletic programs at the University."

This year, IPTAY Representatives will be working with a new IPTAY president, Charlie Bussey of Laurens. "Charlie is the president of Laurens Glass Company, and I think that speaks for itself in terms of business and leadership experience. He's also had fund-raising experience," says Turner. "Charlie served as one of the chairmen of the Robert C. Edwards Endowment drive which raised close to two million dollars, nearly doubling its goal.

"You can see why we're so confident that IPTAY will continue to enjoy tremendous success. We have strong leadership and dedicated workers. That's what has made IPTAY number one and that's what will keep IPTAY on top."

During the fiscal year 1979-80, Clemson's IPTAY Club experienced its finest year. For the sixteenth consecutive year contributions exceeded those of the previous twelve month period. IPTAY President Reeves Gressette and his staff, along with the more than 500 IPTAY Representatives, led the organization to a record setting year. The organization achieved one hundred and fifty-six percent of its projected goal.

We're more than just a door company!

Our name doesn't tell it all, but our product line does. We sell, deliver, custom install, and service a complete line of doors, dock equipment and accessories. We carry everything from decorative front doors to airplane hanger doors. And each is constructed of the finest quality of wood, steel, aluminum, fiberglass, or combination of those materials. You can also rely on our expert service after the sale. Call us for an estimate for your project — whether it's one door or a hundred! If it's anything to do with structural openings in the home, business, or industry, we do it — best!

Serving Residential Needs With:

- Garage Doors, Automatic Openers
- Insulated Entry Door System
- Sliding Glass Doors
- Automatic Gate Openers

Serving Commercial Needs With:

- Dock Seals, Shelters
- Loading Dock Equipment
- Fire Doors & Sectional Doors
- Automatic Swinging Doors
- Strip Doors, Traffic Doors

The Nation's Top 10

Clemson enjoyed its most successful year ever in 1979-80, and, according to the following chart, it was one of the most successful seasons in the nation. The Tigers had the third best all-around sports year in the country according to the national survey conducted by the Knoxville Journal.

The rating system is based on Top 20 rankings in polls or NCAA tournament finishes. Clemson could have scored even more points in the poll had the basketball rankings been based on the NCAA tournament, an event in which the Tigers reached the final eight. Clemson could have gained 15 more points had fencing been included in the poll.

The bottom line tells us that the Tigers are very close to having the finest all-around sports program in the nation. The Tigers' excellent staff of head coaches is a prime reason for this rise to a spot among the nation's elite.

All-Sports Rankings	Cross country	Football	Soccer	Basketball	Wrestling	Swimming	Track	Tennis	Golf	Baseball	TOTALS
Southern California	0	19	0	0	0	15	17	18	13	0	82

“The Association officers have farm background and understanding.”

“With many years of serving us, the Farm Credit System has certainly become well grounded in farm needs and requirements. What I like about dealing with their officers is that they have a farm background and understand what’s happening on the farm. They understand what our needs are and give us expert financial assistance.”

All of agriculture’s financial needs can be met best by the Farm Credit System. Production Credit Associations, Federal Land Bank Associations, and Farm Credit Services all know that...

One of the best football games Clemson has ever played was the 1958 North Carolina game. This game was the first game played in our stadium after it had been enlarged to 40,000 and coached by my good friend Jim Tatum.

This particular day the temperature was extremely hot being around 93° and in Death Valley, this meant the temperature was around 110°. In 1958 we were using the two-team system which means that I was playing two teams about eight and seven minutes each quarter. We did not have the offensive and defensive teams at that time.

During the game Jim Payne blocked a North Carolina quick kick and Jim Padgett picked the ball up and ran twenty to twenty-five yards for a touchdown. This more or less convinced me that we could not quick kick very effectively from the "T" formation, but we had gotten a good deal of mileage from our quick kick when we were using our single-wing back.

At one time during the game I had my second team playing during the fourth quarter and they had carried the ball just over 100 yards due to the fact that they had two 15-yard penalties called on them and they made up the yardage each time. I went out onto the field and it seemed to me that the heat had just taken almost everything out of them so I decided to replace them with my first team.

When the first team was warming up the fans gave me a few boos but I figured I knew more about football than most people in the stands. I then called the first team around me and told them I didn't know whether the fans were booing me or the boys. I made the substitution anyway. On the first play the first team was in, Rudy Hayes made a good run and we finally scored. The final score was Clemson 26 - North Carolina 21 and this was the 100th win that Clemson had claimed since I became the Head Football Coach.

After the game I went across the field to congratulate Coach Jim Tatum and at the same time some inebriated Clemson fan had Tatum collared. He told Tatum that he didn't like him and was going to beat the hell out of him. I got the inebriated fellow and told him that Tatum was a good friend of mine and that he had put about 1/2 of the 40,000 fans in the stands and that if he was going to whip Tatum he had to whip me first. Tatum turned to me and said, "Frank, I knew you liked me, but I didn't know you loved me that much."

We had a good team in 1958 and later played in the Sugar Bowl. Before the game Jim Tatum called us in New Orleans and talked with everyone of my boys long distance from Chapel Hill, N. C. urging them to do everything they possibly could to beat LSU.

We had real good players in 1958 and I will always remember the fine play of the Olson boys, Cordelone, Payne, Padgett, Masneri, White, Shingler, Usry, Mathis, Horne, Quesenbury, Hayes, Cline, Dukes, Synder, Thomas, McCanless, Smith, Lynn, Cox, Jager, Bowich and Rogers.

Frank Howard claimed his 100th win at Clemson against North Carolina in 1958.

Every Tiger Needs a Place to Call His Own

You or your tiger can use this custom crafted redwood wall plaque to decorate the wall of an office, den or other special place. Each plaque is approximately 7½" x 26" wide x ¾" deep and is crafted from the finest heart redwood, sandblasted, stained and pointed by the same craftsman that daily make some of the most exciting new environmental signage on the eastern seaboard.

Each plaque has a stained walnut background with border and letters in beige with our famous tiger paw in Clemson orange.

These plaques make excellent gifts for special days or as a pleasant surprise for any Clemson fan.

Because these plaques are handcrafted after we receive your order, please allow 2-3 weeks for delivery.

Interior and Exterior signs custom designed for your special needs or hobbies. Personalized tiger wood graphic desk name plate. Write for information concerning our custom designed work.

Please send me _____ Clemson "Tiger's Den" wall plaque(s). I have enclosed my check or money order for $37.50 (plus $1.00 postage and handling and 4% S.C. Sales Tax) for each plaque.
